ART HISTORY

Overview and Contact Information
Art History is the historical study of objects and images: painting, sculpture, architecture, film, furniture, ceramics, installations, and many other things. Our courses span the globe, from ancient Rome, Islamic cultures, medieval Paris and Renaissance Italy, to Indian cinema, American painting, contemporary photography and modern architecture. The objectives of our curriculum are: to learn the verbal language necessary to analyze and interpret objects, images, and the built environment; to understand works of art and architecture in their historical and cultural settings; and to develop a critical voice that extends to all aspects of the visual world.

Additional Specifications
• Art history majors may not minor in architectural studies.
• Majors may enroll in 300-level seminars at the other Five College institutions with permission in advance from their advisor and the department chair. Students who plan to enroll in 300-level courses outside of the Five Colleges, especially yearlong courses to be taken abroad, should first consult with their advisor and the department chair to determine if the courses meet departmental criteria for 300-level credit.
• Reading knowledge of a foreign language is recommended for those contemplating graduate study in art history.
• A Studio Art course is strongly advised.
• Students should be aware that preference in 300-level courses is normally given to those who have taken a relevant course at the 200 level. Majors are not automatically guaranteed preference in seminars that might be oversubscribed and, therefore, should not wait until the last semester to fulfill a seminar requirement.

Course Offerings
ARTH-100 Image and Environment

ARTH-100PW Image and Environment: ‘The Power of Images’
Not Scheduled for This Year. Credits: 4
Bombarded daily by thousands of images, we often lack sufficient visual literacy to understand fully how they shape our reality. The course explores roles that images have played in earlier cultures and in our own, how people view, analyze, and articulate their understanding of the visual world. Topics include living statues, votive offerings, voodoo figures, relics, idolatry, iconoclasm, propaganda, and censorship.
Applies to requirement(s): Humanities
B. Bergmann

ARTH-100SE Image and Environment: ‘Ways of Seeing’
Spring. Credits: 4
This course explores how artists, images, and objects have sparked revolution, defined identity, changed how people think and act, reflected and made history. We will examine moments of major change in the arts through close attention to specific themes, individuals, and works from the last seven centuries. The goal is not a fact-filled, comprehensive, strictly chronological overview, but rather an understanding of the ways in which the western visual legacy has profoundly shaped how we see the world around us.
Applies to requirement(s): Humanities
J. Maier
ARTH-100WA Image and Environment: ‘Western Art: 1400-2000’
Fall. Credits: 4
An introduction to painting, sculpture, and architecture in Europe and America from the Renaissance to the present. Classes are organized around five focused topics: Renaissance Florence; the artist in the seventeenth century; art and revolution; nineteenth-century abstraction. Lectures will be complemented by class discussion and short films. Applies to requirement(s): Humanities
P. Staiti

ARTH-101 The Built Environment
Spring. Credits: 4
This course surveys architecture from the ancient world to the present as both a functional response to human activity and as a medium that expresses cultural values. In the service of domestic life, religious ritual, political agendas, commerce, and leisure, architecture reflects and shapes the natural environment, technology, economics, and aesthetic taste. While the history of Western architecture constitutes the primary touchstone, we will pursue themes that include buildings, cities, and sites from around the world. Applies to requirement(s): Humanities
M. Davis

ARTH-105 Arts of Asia
Fall. Credits: 4
This multicultural course introduces students to the visual arts of Asia from the earliest times to the present. In a writing- and speaking-intensive environment, students will develop skills in visual analysis and art historical interpretation. Illustrated class lectures, group discussions, museum visits, and a variety of writing exercises will allow students to explore architecture, sculpture, painting, and other artifacts in relation to the history and culture of such diverse countries as India, China, Cambodia, Korea, and Japan. Applies to requirement(s): Humanities; Multicultural Perspectives
A. Sinha

ARTH-202 Talking Pictures: An Introduction to Film
Not Scheduled for This Year. Credits: 4
Some of the best feature-length films of the past century have commanded our attention and imagination because of their compelling artistry and the imaginative ways they tell stories visually and verbally. This course closely studies narrative films from around the world, from the silent era to the present, and in the process it introduces students to the basic elements of film form, style, and narration. Some of the films to be considered are: Broken Blossoms, Battleship Potemkin, Citizen Kane, Contempt, The Bicycle Thief, Ugetsu, Rear Window, Woman in the Dunes, The Marriage of Maria Braun, Days of Heaven, and Moulin Rouge. Crosslisted as: FLMS-202
 Applies to requirement(s): Humanities
P. Staiti

ARTH-216 Empire: The Visual World of Ancient Rome
Not Scheduled for This Year. Credits: 4
At its height, the Roman Empire spanned a vast area, from modern Scotland to Libya and Iraq. Within that territory lived peoples of multiple races, languages, and religions. The course explores the art and architecture created in this global culture from its beginning in 30 BCE to the dedication of the first Christian capital, Constantinople, in 330 CE. Subjects include the arts of engineering and city planning, public propaganda, arena spectacles, homes of life and the afterlife, and mystery religions. Applies to requirement(s): Humanities
B. Bergmann
Restrictions: Course limited to sophomores, juniors and seniors

ARTH-222 Age of the Cathedrals: Gothic Art in Europe, 1100-1500
Not Scheduled for This Year. Credits: 4
A historical survey of medieval architecture, monumental sculpture, and painting of France, England, Germany, and Italy. The course concentrates on the great church as a multimedia environment and on the religious, political and social roles of art in society. Applies to requirement(s): Humanities
M. Davis
Restrictions: Course limited to sophomores, juniors and seniors

ARTH-230 Italian Renaissance Art
Fall. Credits: 4
This course focuses on architecture in Italy— including churches, palaces, villas, and fortifications, as well as city planning—from 1400 to 1700. In this period, architects took their cues from the classical tradition even as they carved out their own territory, developing new techniques and perfecting old ones to realize their designs. We will trace shifting architectural practice through key figures from Brunelleschi to Bernini, and through the lens of larger cultural forces. We will also examine buildings in light of the painted and sculpted decorative programs that were often integral to their overall effect. Applies to requirement(s): Humanities
J. Maier
Restrictions: Course limited to sophomores, juniors and seniors

ARTH-233 Renaissance and Baroque Architecture in Italy
Fall. Credits: 4
This course covers the arts in Northern Europe during a time of upheaval. We will look at developments in panel painting, manuscript illumination, printmaking, and sculpture from the fourteenth to sixteenth centuries—examining shifting patterns of patronage and production along with shifting styles, techniques, and media. We will consider major artists like Jan van Eyck, Albrecht Durer, and Pieter Bruegel, as well as seismic cultural shifts such as the print revolution, the emergence of the woman artist, the Reformation, and the origins of the art market. Applies to requirement(s): Humanities
J. Maier
Restrictions: Course limited to sophomores, juniors and seniors

ARTH-231 Northern Renaissance Art
Spring. Credits: 4
This survey outlines the arts in Northern Europe during a time of upheaval. We will look at developments in panel painting, manuscript illumination, printmaking, and sculpture from the fourteenth to sixteenth centuries—examining shifting patterns of patronage and production along with shifting styles, techniques, and media. We will consider major artists like Jan van Eyck, Albrecht Durer, and Pieter Bruegel, as well as seismic cultural shifts such as the print revolution, the emergence of the woman artist, the Reformation, and the origins of the art market. Advisory: First-year students may seek permission if they have 4 credits in Art History.
ARTH-236 The Global Renaissance
Not Scheduled for This Year. Credits: 4
The traditionalist view of the Renaissance treats Europe as if it were an isolated hotbed of cultural innovation. This course will reconsider the period as one of intensifying cross-pollination, when European artists were deeply affected by contact with the Near and Far East, Africa, and the Americas. Specific topics will include representations of distant lands and peoples; the collecting of exotic materials; cartography and expanding world horizons; Venice and the Ottoman world; and the reception of classical architecture in Latin America. We will consider many facets of Renaissance visual culture—from paintings and buildings to maps, prints, and illustrated books—that framed these global crosscurrents.
Applies to requirement(s): Humanities
J. Maier
Restrictions: Course limited to sophomores, juniors and seniors

ARTH-241 Nineteenth-Century European Art: Neoclassicism to Impressionism
Fall. Credits: 4
This course surveys art in Europe from roughly the French Revolutionary era to the last quarter of the nineteenth century, that is, from the neoclassical painters (David and his atelier) at one end and the great painters of modern life in Paris (Manet and his followers) at the other. That chronology represents one of the most important transformations in the history of art: the origins and early development of what we today call ‘modern art.’ We will spend considerable time tracing this difficult passage, pausing here and there to readjust ourselves to the shifting language of art and to orient art’s relationship to the modern public.
Among the major figures to be studied are Constable, Courbet, Delacroix, Friedrich, Goya, Ingres, Monet, Renoir, and Turner.
Applies to requirement(s): Humanities
A. Lee
Restrictions: Course limited to sophomores, juniors and seniors

ARTH-242 History of Photography: The First Hundred Years
Fall. Credits: 4
This course surveys the first century of photography, beginning with its putative birth in 1839 and following its shifts and turns until the eve of World War II. We will look at a variety of photographic types: the daguerreotype, calotype, tintype, albumen and gelatin silver prints. We will assess a range of practices: studio portraiture, commercial pictures, vernacular photography, journalism, and the fine arts. And we will follow camerawork in a variety of settings: Canada, China, England, France, Mexico, Russia, and the U.S.
Applies to requirement(s): Humanities
A. Lee
Restrictions: Course limited to sophomores, juniors and seniors

ARTH-243 Architecture 1890-1990
Fall. Credits: 4
An exploration of major movements and personalities in architecture from the late nineteenth century to the present. Emphasizing the United States against the background of European developments, the course considers the search by architects, including Frank Lloyd Wright, Le Corbusier, and Frank Gehry, for a language of form and space that captures the contemporary spirit as it elevates society to a higher plane of existence. Discussion focuses on issues of technology and utopia, the skyscraper, and the collision of tradition, modernity, and postmodernism in architecture since 1945.
Applies to requirement(s): Humanities
M. Davis
Restrictions: Course limited to sophomores, juniors and seniors

ARTH-243AR Architecture 1890-1990: ‘Building the Modern Environment’
Fall. Credits: 4
This course examines the great ruptures in late 19th and early 20th century art that today we call modernist. It relates aspects of that art to the equally great transformations outside the studio: political revolution, the rise and consolidation of industrial capitalism, colonization and its discontents, and world war. It compares different kinds of modernisms, including those in Austria, France, Germany, Mexico, Spain and Russia.
Applies to requirement(s): Humanities

ARTH-245 Art of Cold War Modernity
Spring. Credits: 4
This course traces the different paths of painting, sculpture, and photography in the U.S. and Western Europe between 1945 and 1989, between the end of World War II and the fall of the Berlin Wall. We will follow the ‘crisis of modernism,’ the rise of post-modernism, and the effects of geopolitical tension on the visual arts.
Applies to requirement(s): Humanities
A. Lee
Restrictions: Course limited to sophomores, juniors and seniors

ARTH-250 American Art
Fall. Credits: 4
A survey of painting and sculpture, this course introduces students to the work of individual artists. Classes also develop ways of looking at and thinking about art as the material expression of American social, political, and cultural ideas. Copley, Stuart, Cole, Church, Eakins, Homer, Sargent, Whistler, and Cassatt are some of the artists discussed.
Applies to requirement(s): Humanities
P. Staiti
Restrictions: Course limited to sophomores, juniors and seniors

ARTH-261 Arts of China
Spring. Credits: 4
This course will survey arts of China from the neolithic period to the twentieth century. Class lectures will analyze ceramics, bronze vessels, sculpture, architecture, calligraphy, and painting in relation to various religious ideas and political formations that took place in China’s long history.
Applies to requirement(s): Humanities; Multicultural Perspectives
A. Sinha
Restrictions: Course limited to sophomores, juniors and seniors
ARTH-262 Arts of Japan
Not Scheduled for This Year. Credits: 4
This course explores the special characteristics of Japanese art and architecture, from the early asymmetry of Jomon pottery and the abstraction of Haniwa figures to the later elite arts of the aristocratic, military, and merchant classes: narrative scroll painting, gold-ground screens, and the ‘floating world’ of the color woodblock print. A historical survey of the arts of Japan, highlighting the interplay of art with religious and political issues.
Applies to requirement(s): Humanities; Multicultural Perspectives
A. Sinha
Restrictions: Course limited to sophomores, juniors and seniors

ARTH-263 Arts of India
Not Scheduled for This Year. Credits: 4
The multicultural course will survey architecture, sculpture, painting, and other arts of India from the earliest times to the twenty-first century. Students will explore the various arts as material expressions of a relationship between religious beliefs, geography and cultural conditions of the subcontinent of India in different historical periods. Class sessions will also provide opportunities for an examination of cross-cultural issues relating to the study of non-Western art in a Western academic discipline. Students will develop strategies for visual analysis and critical thinking through written assignments, class discussions, and close reading of scholarly articles.
Applies to requirement(s): Humanities; Multicultural Perspectives
A. Sinha
Restrictions: Course limited to sophomores, juniors and seniors

ARTH-271 Arts of Islam: Book, Mosque, and Palace
Spring. Credits: 4
Through investigation of major works produced in the Muslim world between the seventh and seventeenth centuries from Spain to India, this course explores the ways in which art and architecture were used to embody the faith, accommodate its particular needs, and express the power of its rulers. Topics include the calligraphy of the Qur’an, illustrated literature, the architecture of the mosque, and the aristocratic palace.
Applies to requirement(s): Humanities; Multicultural Perspectives
M. Davis
Restrictions: Course limited to sophomores, juniors and seniors

ARTH-290 Issues in Art History
ARTH-290AP Issues in Art History: ‘Ancient Painting and Mosaic’
Not Scheduled for This Year. Credits: 4
The course treats the themes, techniques, and contexts of painting and mosaic in the ancient Mediterranean. From Bronze Age palaces to early Byzantine churches, surfaces were embellished with frescoes, pebbles, glass and jewels. These might be rendered in complex geometric shapes or with mythological scenes. Portable vases displayed elegantly drawn figures. We will examine the unique effects of each medium by working with original objects in the Mount Holyoke College Art Museum.
Applies to requirement(s): Humanities
B. Bergmann
Restrictions: Course limited to sophomores, juniors and seniors
Advisory: Some exposure to the classical world of Greece and Rome or art history.

Spring. Credits: 4
Indian popular film, known commonly as Bollywood, is usually understood to have weak storylines interrupted with overblown cinematic spectacles and distracting dance numbers. The course explores the narrative and visual structure of Bollywood for what scholar Lalitha Gopalan has called a “constellation of interruptions.” We will analyze a selection of films closely, read scholarly articles, participate in debates, write guided assignments, and pursue independent research papers. We will learn to develop provocative historical and theoretical approaches to Indian films both, as a vibrant cultural form as well as intelligent filmmaking that challenges us and contributes to our understanding of world cinema.

ARTH-290CM Issues in Art History: ‘Classical Myth in Ancient Art’
Not Scheduled for This Year. Credits: 4
The aim of the course is to acquaint students with the stories of gods and mortals represented in Greek and Roman art. We will examine visual modes of storytelling in sculpture, mosaic, fresco, lamps, and gems. In which contexts did such stories appear, why, and what do we know about their reception among ancient viewers?
Applies to requirement(s): Humanities; Multicultural Perspectives
B. Bergmann
Restrictions: Course limited to sophomores, juniors and seniors

ARTH-290CR Issues in Art History: ‘The City of Rome From Romulus to Constantine’
Fall. Credits: 4
A detailed survey of the archaeology of the city of Rome from its origin in the early Iron Age to the beginning of the fourth century CE. The principal monuments and architectural development of the ancient city will be discussed against a broader cultural and historical background, with an emphasis on the powerful families and individuals responsible for the shaping of the urban landscape, and the specific social and political circumstances that gave the monuments meaning.
Crosslisted as: CLASS-230

Restrictions: Course limited to sophomores, juniors and seniors

ARTH-290FM Issues in Art History: ‘American Films That Matter’
Not Scheduled for This Year. Credits: 4
Certain American films stand out as works of art by combining strong narrative structure with striking visual presence. Ten of those films, from the silent era to the present, will be studied. In addition to weekly discussion, students will be responsible for analyzing opening sequences. Among the films to be considered are: The Grapes of Wrath, It’s a Wonderful Life, Sunset Boulevard, Touch of Evil, Vertigo, Chinatown, Blade Runner, Do the Right Thing, and Beasts of the Southern Wild.
Crosslisted as: FLMST-270FM
Applies to requirement(s): Humanities
P. Staiti
Restrictions: Course limited to sophomores, juniors and seniors
Prereq: A previous Film Studies course.
ARTh-290MU Issues in Art History: 'Museumized The History, Ethics, and Workings of Art Museums'
Spring. Credits: 4
This course will look at the history, theory and practice of art museums as well as the numerous issues they face today. Students will be introduced to issues such as community access, cultural ownership, and repatriation. We will consider the biases that are present in any exhibition through the work of artists such as Andrea Fraser and Fred Wilson. Through hands on projects and field trips students will gain valuable insight and experience in the museum field. The class will give an idea of the variety of careers available in the art world and help students become critical viewers of exhibitions.
Applies to requirement(s): Humanities
Restrictions: Course limited to sophomores, juniors and seniors

ARTh-290PM Issues in Art History: 'Pompeii'
Not Scheduled for This Year. Credits: 4
Buried in the volcanic eruption of 79 CE, Pompeii provides an astounding level of preservation for fresco, sculpture, and luxury arts in addition to temples, baths, houses, shops, theaters, and streets. The rediscovery of the ancient site since the eighteenth century had a significant impact upon European art and literature. The course examines the surviving environment and artifacts created in the late republic and early empire and considers the history of archaeological and art historical methods and the romantic visions of Pompei in art, theatre, and film up to the present.
Applies to requirement(s): Humanities
B. Bergmann
Advisory: Some exposure to the classical world of Greece and Rome or art history.

ARTh-290TH Issues in Art History: 'The City of Athens from Theseus to Alaric'
Not Scheduled for This Year. Credits: 4
A detailed survey of the principal surviving monuments and the overall architectural development of the city of Athens from its origins in the Bronze Age to the end of the 4th century C.E. The archaeological evidence will be discussed against a broader cultural and historical background, with an emphasis on the specific people and events that helped to shape the city and the general social and political circumstances that gave the monuments meaning.

ARTh-295 Independent Study
Fall and Spring. Credits: 1 - 4
The department
Instructor permission required.

ARTh-300 Seminar
ARTh-300CR Seminar: 'Critical Approaches to Art Historical Study'
Fall. Credits: 4
Intended as a kind of 'boot camp' for Art History majors, this course gives a major overview of the field, its methods, and its professional possibilities. Students will design their own research projects, conceptualize exhibitions, and hear from professionals working in various sectors of the art world. They will hone their research, writing, and speaking skills, while learning what it means to interpret art through lenses such as formalism, Marxism, gender, and postcolonialism. Students will also write applications for internships, jobs, and graduate programs—the goal being to consider how the art history skills they have acquired as undergraduates can translate into life after college, in the art world and beyond.
Applies to requirement(s): Humanities
Other Attribute(s): Speaking-Intensive, Writing-Intensive
J. Maier
Restrictions: This course is open to juniors and seniors
Prereq: 8 credits in Art History.

ARTh-301 Topics in Art History
ARTh-301BK Topics in Art History: 'The Art of the Book: From Manuscript to Incunabula'
Spring. Credits: 4
The subject of this course is the book, from its invention in the late antique era to the advent of printing in the fifteenth century, in Europe and Western Asia. We will study books made for devotion, instruction, entertainment, and pleasure, from the earliest accounts of Christ's life, to jewel-encrusted books painted with gold for emperors, to student-copied textbooks of the oldest universities, to vernacular literature, legends, and histories. Topics include technology and materials, integration of text and image, makers (monastic, courtly, and commercial), and readers and collectors, via first-hand study of manuscripts in nearby collections and independent research.
Applies to requirement(s): Humanities
Other Attribute(s): Speaking-Intensive, Writing-Intensive
C. Andrews

ARTh-301DE Topics in Art History: 'Destroying Art Past and Present'
Not Scheduled for This Year. Credits: 4
In this course, we will investigate the destruction of artworks and monuments for religious or political reasons, called iconoclasm. The seminar addresses the current debates involving the removal and destruction of confederate monuments in the U.S. and responses from government, media, and social critics. Concurrently, we will study key historical moments of iconoclasm ranging from the Byzantine era to the Protestant Reformation and the French Revolution. Studying iconoclasms in different historical periods raises the issue of the power of art in society. Through class discussion, group work, original research, and writing, we will explore how past iconoclasms may inform our understanding of the present. The work also involves an inquiry into art historical methodology as well as approaches from fields such as critical race theory, and a consideration of the role of the art historian in the present debates and social justice movements.
Crosslisted as: RELIG-331DE
Applies to requirement(s): Humanities
C. Andrews
ARTh-301FS Topics in Art History: ‘Founding Sisters: The Origins of College Collections’
Not Scheduled for This Year. Credits: 4
The seminar explores the early history of liberal arts college collections and the pioneering women who founded them. Research in the college archives and museum and department files will supply answers to how and when marble sculpture, plaster casts, and scientific specimens came to Mount Holyoke. The course illuminates a major, forgotten role of women in shaping the liberal arts in the late 19th and 20th centuries. Final projects will culminate in a virtual exhibition and WordPress site that will be linked to museum and department websites.
Applies to requirement(s): Humanities
B. Bergmann
Prereq: 8 credits in Art History.

ARTh-301TC Topics in Art History: ‘Technologies of Architectural Design’
Fall. Credits: 4
This seminar investigates the role of technology in the design of buildings in the pre-modern world. We will perform the layout of a medieval church plan employing geometric procedures, follow the development of drawing in conception and construction, and consider structural innovation as a response to changing functional and imaginative demands. Using digital software and the facilities of the Makerspace, we will explore the possibilities technology offers for the analysis, reconstruction, and presentation of historical architecture.
Crosslisted as: ARCH-305TC
Applies to requirement(s): Humanities
M. Davis
Restrictions: Course limited to sophomores, juniors and seniors
Prereq: A combination of 8 credits in art history, architectural studies, or art studio.
Advisory: Students with a computer science background encouraged to enroll.

ARTh-302 Great Cities
ARTh-302PA Great Cities: ‘Reimaging Paris’
Not Scheduled for This Year. Credits: 4
This seminar studies medieval Paris, the largest city in Europe, royal capital of France, and home to a renowned university. We meet the city through its surviving buildings, visual arts, and literature. Using digital tools we will reconstruct key lost buildings in a process that casts participants in the role of builder, demands careful evaluation of evidence and encourages creative imagination.
Applies to requirement(s): Humanities
M. Davis
Restrictions: This course is open to juniors and seniors
Prereq: 8 credits in Art History, Computer Science, or Medieval Studies.

ARTh-310 Seminar in Ancient Art
ARTh-310BA Seminar in Ancient Art: ‘The Body in Classical Art’
Spring. Credits: 4
This course interrogates the representation of human, divine, and "other" bodies in Classical art. Through the body, we will engage with questions regarding the roles and perceptions of divinities, humans, and "others" in visual culture from both the ancient and contemporary world. We will also unpack ancient attitudes and expectations of males and females, human and the divine, citizens and "others", and engage with questions of ancient perceptions of beauty, masculinity and femininity, and social and sexual normativity and deviation. Through the investigation of the ancient world and a critical engagement with contemporary America, students will develop a deeper appreciation for how representations of the body can communicate essential cultural information for both the past and the present.
Applies to requirement(s): Humanities
C. Feldman
Restrictions: This course is open to juniors and seniors
Prereq: 8 credits in art history.

ARTh-310CA Seminar in Ancient Art: ‘Collecting Global Antiquity’
Fall. Credits: 4
The seminar considers the collecting and display of ancient objects from antiquity to the present. We will look at current and past controversies about excavation, plunder, and cultural patrimony. Students will engage in firsthand study of objects. A focus will be an exciting new gift to the Mount Holyoke College Art Museum of ancient artifacts from Afghanistan, Pakistan, and the Indus Valley, which introduce issues of cross-cultural exchange along the Silk Route.
Applies to requirement(s): Humanities
Other Attribute(s): Speaking-Intensive, Writing-Intensive
B. Bergmann
Restrictions: Course limited to sophomores, juniors and seniors
Prereq: Courses in Art History, Classics, or Ancient History.

ARTh-310LM Seminar in Ancient Art: ‘Love and Metamorphosis’
Fall. Credits: 4
The course examines the most popular mythical love tales in classical art and their reception since the Renaissance. The aim of the course is to acquaint students with visual modes of storytelling and compare them with narratives in literature and in (records of) performance.
Applies to requirement(s): Humanities
Other Attribute(s): Speaking-Intensive, Writing-Intensive
B. Bergmann
Restrictions: This course is open to juniors and seniors

ARTh-310RL Seminar in Ancient Art: ‘Roman Luxury’
Not Scheduled for This Year. Credits: 4
The conquest of the Mediterranean introduced a spectacular array of precious materials, flora, and fauna into Rome, and wealthy homeowners spared no expense in collecting and displaying exotic and virtuoso feats of artistry, many accomplished by captive Greeks. The seminar explores patterns of consumption in houses, villas, and sanctuaries in the late Republic and early Empire, and how they were sustained by slave labor, political affiliations, and land ownership. Focus will be on spring exhibition at Smith College, "Leisure and Luxury in the Age of Nero", and on original works of art in our own museum.
Applies to requirement(s): Humanities
B. Bergmann
Prereq: Courses in art history, classics, or ancient history.
ARTH-332 Seminar in Renaissance and Baroque Art
ARTH-332DV Seminar in Renaissance and Baroque Art: 'Leonardo da Vinci'
Not Scheduled for This Year. Credits: 4
Leonardo da Vinci ushered in the High Renaissance in painting and established an archetype for the visionary that persists to this day. Artist, architect, military engineer, scientist, and author, he has been credited with inventing the helicopter and corkscrew, not to mention new modes of representation. His best known works—the Mona Lisa, the Last Supper, the Vitruvian Man—are among the foremost icons of western culture.
In this seminar, our goal is to look at these paradigms, and Leonardo himself, with fresh eyes. By peering into the mind and achievements of one extraordinary individual, we will open a window onto the broader intellectual and artistic concerns of the Renaissance.

ARTH-340 Seminar in Modern Art
ARTH-340AM Seminar in Modern Art: After Impressionism'
Not Scheduled for This Year. Credits: 4
This seminar focuses on the works of Seurat, Gauguin, van Gogh, and Toulouse-Lautrec and the feverish debates about painting in the 1880s and 1890s that the previous generation of Impressionists had brought about. Although sometimes called 'Post-Impressionists,' the four were hardly a unified group, took distinct paths away from the main lines of avant-garde expression, and pursued projects that had limited allegiance to the ideas and practices of the others.

ARTH-342 Seminar in Contemporary Art
ARTH-342GC Seminar in Contemporary Art: 'Curating Global Contemporary Art'
Not Scheduled for This Year. Credits: 4
Contemporary art belongs to a global exchange of ideas, requiring models for understanding its value beyond countries of origin. Museums and galleries regularly showcase artworks from different continents to signal historical interconnections. The course explores the challenges or curating contemporary art. We will study existing curatorial practices, and examine the role of small exhibitions as well as large international art fairs in creating an interlinked, international art community. We will work closely with the Mount Holyoke College Art Museum, and develop exhibition strategies to foreground the global aspect of contemporary art.

ARTH-350 Seminar in American Art
ARTH-350FW Seminar in American Art: 'The Architecture of Frank Lloyd Wright'
Not Scheduled for This Year. Credits: 4
This seminar will explore Frank Lloyd Wright's 60-year career in architecture. We will pay particular attention to ways in which he handled form, space, and structure to frame human activity and to create a modern American style. We will also explore the social implications of Wright's approach to domestic design and community planning.

ARTH-360 Seminar in Asian Art
ARTH-360BC Seminar in Asian Art: 'Bollywood: A Cinema of Interruptions'
Not Scheduled for This Year. Credits: 4
How are we to respond to Indian popular film, which is notorious for its distracting song and dance numbers, meandering story line, and visually overblown spectacles? This seminar will develop historical and theoretical approaches to Indian films as what scholar Lalitha Gopalan calls a 'constellation of interruptions.' Students will examine feature films in class, write critical papers on scholarly essays, and pursue independent research projects on various aspects of Indian film.
